THE ILLINOIS SPEEDY.

Newport News, March 12.—On her builders' trial trip this afternoon, the new battleship Illinois showed her speed in a run of two hours, averaging 16.2 knots, with 107 revolutions. Her contract calls for sixteen knots, with 130 revolutions.

IN THE SHADOW.

Gen. Harrison's Condition Extremely Critical.

He Has Been Constantly Weak ening Through The Night.

Former President's Lease Of Life Now Numbered By Hours.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 13, 1.00 A. M.—At midnight, General Harrison was lying in an unconscious condition. He was constantly growing weaker and the congestion was spreading. There was nothing to indicate death before several hours.

Earlier Bulletins.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—The following bulletin was issued from the Harrison residence at half-past eight o'clock this evening:

General Harrison's condition has been gradually growing worse since five o'clock this afternoon. He is semi-comatose and is not suffering.

(Signed) F. C. Donsley.

At half-past nine o'clock this evening the following bulletin was issued:

The condition of General Harrison is extremely critical. It is impossible at this time to accurately state how long his system can withstand the deepening of the congestion. I do not expect death before morning.

(Signed) HENRY JAMESON

ORDER TRANSFERRING REAR ADMIRAL CROMWELL.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Orders were issued today by the navy department, detaching Rear Admiral W. S. Schley from command of the South Atlantic station and ordering him home for further orders, also detaching Rear Admiral B. J. Cromwell from the command of the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard, on April first, and ordering him to the command of the South Atlantic station, sailing from New York on April third. Lieut. Comdr J. H. Spear of Admiral Schley's squadron is also detached. Lieut. J. H. Sipher, now at the Portsmouth yard, is ordered to duty on Admiral Cromwell's staff. Rear Admiral J. J. Read is ordered to relieve Admiral Cromwell as commandant of the Portsmouth yard, on April first.

SOUTH AFRICAN SITUATION.

LONDON, March 13, 2.00 A. M.—The Daily News this morning makes this important statement:

"We understand that the government has greatly modified its unconditional surrender policy. It is believed that Lord Kitchener has been authorized to offer amnesty to all Boers and Boer leaders, except in cases where treachery is clearly exposed. The Cape rebels are to be disfranchised. The government will probably offer to establish a civil government when all the commandos have surrendered. This is expected to include a council (upon the suggestion of Sir Alfred Milner) composed of prominent Boers like Louis Botha, Lucius Meyer and Mr. Schalk-Burgor."

AT SULING PASS.

BERLIN, March 12.—The war office has received the following from Count von Waldersee:

PEKING, March 11.—In the fight west of Suling Pass, we had only one slightly wounded. The Chinese left 250 dead on the field. Our cavalry, with four quick firing, pursued them twenty miles. A battalion remains at Fen Ping and west from the Great Wall, to prevent the return of the Chinese.

DR GREENE IS MAYOR.

LACONIA, N. H., March 12.—In the municipal election today, Dr. J. Alonzo Greene, nominated by the republicans and endorsed by the citizens' party, was elected mayor, receiving 1146 votes out of a total of 4092. There was no democratic candidate in the field.

VICTIM OF ASSAULT.

New York, March 12.—Unconscious and, as the physicians say, dying, May Paige, the sixteen-year-old daughter of C. H. Paige, lies tonight at her home in Brooklyn, the victim of assault. She was found yesterday morning wandering in the streets. She has been conscious only a few minutes since, but in her lucid moments she has told how she was lured into a livery stable by three young men, who forced her to drink and then assaulted her. The police this afternoon arrested George Abbott, Jr., seventeen years old. He admits knowing the girl and says that he walked with her on Sunday evening, but he denies any knowledge of assault. He gave the names of the other two youths and on complaint of Miss Paige, warrants have been sworn out for their arrest.

BRITISH NAVAL BUDGET.

LONDON, March 12.—The new ship building budget of the British navy provides for three battleships, six armored cruisers, two cruisers of the second class, ten torpedo boat destroyers, five torpedo boats, two sloops of war and five submarine boats. All of these will be in course of construction this year.

NAVAL VESSELS' MOVEMENTS.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The Hartford and Lancaster have sailed from Hampton Roads for Boston. The Adams is at Monterey. The Philadelphia has left Acapulco for San Diego. The Culgoa has arrived at Sidney. The Hercules is at Annapolis. The Atlanta has arrived at Buenos Ayres.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Forecast for New England: Increasing cloudiness and probably rain Wednesday afternoon, warmer, fresh to brisk east winds; Thursday rain.

A GREAT VAUDEVILLE BILL.

The bill to be presented by the White Rats at Music hall on Thursday Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee is a great one. It includes the Whalleys, refined musical artists; Miss Beardwell, soprano soloist; Albene and L. Brant, novelty artists; Elmer and Olive, illustrated songsters; Olla Randall, comedy juggler; Florence Zeller, change artist; the Sisters Saville, songs, dances and electric novelty act; Henry T. Waite, trick violinist; and Dilly and Tafe, comedy acrobats and trick barrel jumpers.

The act of the Whalleys (Angela and Evangeline) is equal to anything of the kind on the vaudeville boards today. They use the finest set of silver staff bells and earillon tubes in this country. The turn closes with a grand spectacular act on bells and tubes, which is pronounced by competent critics to be unsurpassed.

REPUBLICANS ARE ON TOP.

They Score A Sweeping Victory In City Election.

Hon. Edward E. McIntire Gets A Plurality Of 749.

A Light Vote Was Polled And There Was No Excitement At All.

The annual municipal election on Tuesday resulted in one of the most decisive republican victories known in Portsmouth for years. The republicans had confidently anticipated their own success and it had been conceded by the democrats, several weeks ago. Consequently, no excitement attended the balloting.

Mayor Edward E. McIntire is re-elected by the majority of 749, a most brilliant endorsement of his first term. His lead last year over Hon. Calvin Page, the democratic nominee, was 282. Francis E. Langdon, Mr. McIntire's opponent on Tuesday, so far from drawing any republican votes, failed to hold the full support of his own party.

The republicans elect eight aldermen and fourteen councilmen—the demo-

A more quiet election was never held in this city. The voting in every ward was uncommonly light and the voting places were as dull as Quaker meetings. The voting was very slow until two o'clock in the afternoon. Not over two hundred votes had been cast in ward two up to that hour.

There was very little scratching in any of the wards. About every voter seemed anxious just to mark the straight ticket and have it over with speedily. The weather was very favorable. The sun was agreeable and the March wind was not vicious.

CAME HERE TO SPEND IT.

John McCardell Of Dover Pinches A Wad Of Money.

John McCardell of Dover stole thirty dollars from a man named McMannus up there, on Tuesday, and came to Portsmouth to have a good time with it. He walked to Sawyer's and there boarded the train that arrives in this city at five minutes after two o'clock in the afternoon. He hadn't been in town long before police headquarters here was notified of the theft and told that McCardell had probably come down here, and Officers Hurley and Kelley went scouting for him. They found their man in a house on Water street. He had spent all but six dollars, which was found on his person. He was taken to the police station and held for the Dover officers.

THROWN FROM HACK.

Charles E. Dempsey Quite Badly Hurt On Tuesday Afternoon.

A very painful accident befell Charles E. Dempsey, the well known liveryman, on Tuesday afternoon. He was driving out into Market street from Mendum's alley, when one of the wheels of the hack struck a stone, causing the vehicle to slew suddenly. Mr. Dempsey, who was standing up at the time, was thrown to the ground so violently as to badly injure him about the head and shoulders and render him incapable of motion for some time. The physician who attended him anticipates no serious results from the mishap.

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Col. S. R. Marston returns to his duties on the yard next week.

Steam engineering is pleased over the provision for a new office building.

Four candidates took the examination for the appointment as inspector of grantees on Tuesday.

A three hundred and fifty horse power engine is to be installed in the construction department.

The family of Rear Admiral B. J. Cromwell are to reside at Newport and will move there next week.

The ceremony as a result of the change in command of the yard will take place on Monday next, when Rear Admiral J. A. Read, U. S. N., reports.

The board of civil engineers appointed with Civil Engineer L. E. Gregory, U. S. N., as senior member, is now engaged in deciding on certain changes in the construction of the new dock.

NEW CASTLE ELECTION.

It was a very quiet election in New Castle. A good vote was polled, but there was an utter absence of anything exciting. The following town officers were elected:

Selectmen, W. I. Haywood, W. T. Meloon, E. D. Rand;
Town clerk, Byron S. Yeaton;
Town treasurer, Howard M. Curtis;
Tax collector, Robert F. White;
School committee, James W. Pridham, W. I. Haywood, Jesse O. White. This was the only ticket in the field. It went through with no opposition.

PRETORIA IS HOPEFUL.

General Botha's Surrender Confidently Expected.

GENERAL COLVILLE'S BLUNDERS.

Mr. Brodrick in House of Commons Explains Why the British Officer Was Retired—Plague's Growth in Cape Town.

London, March 12.—A Pretoria dispatch, dated half past 9 o'clock last evening, says:

"The result of the negotiations between Lord Kitchener and General Louis Botha is anxiously but hopefully awaited.

"The presence of Sir Alfred Milner in Pretoria to consult with Lord Kitchener is expected to hasten the change from the military to the civil administration."

General Botha is willing to surrender, says a dispatch from Laurence Marques. He asked an armistice in order to consult with General De Wet and Mr. Steyn. Should they decide it is believed nevertheless that General Botha will surrender.

The Boers have no artillery or ammunition and are burning all their guns. The railway from Laurence Marques to Pretoria is practically clear of Boers.

The Times has received the following from Bloemfontein:

"Boers who have surrendered here say that Mr. Steyn, in a recent speech at Philippolis, admitted that there was no chance of regaining the country."

General Colville's Blunders.

In the house of commons yesterday Mr. Brodrick, secretary of war, replying to a motion for an inquiry regarding the retirement of Major General Colville, said he would tell the real facts.

"At Sanna's Post," said the secretary, "General Colville blundered about or maneuvered about until his force was weary, while the Boers carried off guns unopposed. He showed lack of enterprise, which lost him the confidence of Lord Roberts."

The secretary added that Lord Roberts postponed his decision, when there came the unfortunate Lindley surrender, for which General Colville was blamed. Mr. Brodrick gave General Colville an opportunity to resign, but he insisted upon being removed. He thought General Colville had been treated more leniently than if he had been court-martialed.

To date the total number of deaths of the plague in Cape Town is 23. Cases are now appearing among the better class of Europeans living in healthy parts of the city. The government has secured the Imperial Yeomanry hospital at Maitland, three miles from Cape Town, for European cases.

One Boy Kills Another.

Chicago, March 12.—Fourteen-year-old Frank Bachowski was shot and killed last night by 13-year-old Joseph Weriski. Bachowski entered St. Stanislaus hall, where a Polish national liberty society, made up of small boys, was in session. The lad was not a member and was ordered out. He refused to go and was soon surrounded by several boys and put out. On the steps of the hall he made a hard fight and was not subdued until Weriski drew a revolver and shot him through the head. The boy fell headlong down the steps after being shot and was found dead on the sidewalk.

Cubans Still at Sea.

Havana, March 12.—The committee on foreign relations of the Cuban constitutional convention informally discussed the Platt amendment yesterday. No decisive policy was outlined, and the committee will probably not report until after a conference with the other delegates. There is no unanimity in the convention as to what action should be taken regarding the amendment. Even the extreme radicals seem to hesitate to take a vigorous attitude. Everybody is hopeful that something may happen to bring about a solution.

Oddities of the Four Bills.

Albany, March 12.—Governor Odell yesterday sent four veto messages to the legislature. The bills vetoed were: Senator Slater's, extending the powers of the trustees of scenic and historic places and objects; Senator Hill's, changing the name of the Niagara Falls Insurance company; Senator Dougherty's, authorizing the town authorities of Nassau county to have their records recorded; Senator Dougherty's, providing for the reimbursement of the sheriff of Nassau county for expenses incurred by him.

Pro-Polygamy Bill Passed.

Salt Lake City, March 12.—Yesterday, three days before the legislative session comes to a close, the Utah house by a vote of 25 to 17 passed the Evans senate bill to protect polygamy. Having passed the senate last week, 11 to 7, the document now goes to Governor Wells for his signature. The governor is a Mormon.

Captain Bean of the Commissioner.

Washington, March 12.—Captain W. H. Bean, commissary, has been relieved from duty in Chicago and ordered to St. Louis, relieving Colonel J. J. Clague, assistant commissary general, who is ordered to Havana as chief commissary of the department of Cuba, relieving Captain Philip M. O'Sullivan.

Hoggin Buys Land in West.

New York, March 12.—Isidore Mack, winner of the Brooklyn and Saratoga handicaps last year, has been sold to Austin & Lavale to J. B. Hoggin, the California millionaire.

RIVAL HEIRS COMBINE.

Gilman Family Starts Fight For Millions.

SUITS BROUGHT FOR PARTITION.

Representative of Each Faction Appointed Administrator by Surrogate Fitzgerald—Relatives Far and Near. Beautiful Housekeeper Confident.

New York, March 12.—No time has been lost by the claimants for the millions left by George Francis Gilman. Relatives whom he avoided and hated in his lifetime have gathered from far and near to fight for a share in his fortune. They profess no regret for the eccentric old man—they care only for his money. They are glad that his prejudices were so strong that he would tolerate no allusion to death and that he failed apparently to take the precaution to make a will.

Legal proceedings have been instituted both in this state and in Connecticut for the partition of the property. Administrators have been appointed here to assume charge of the personal estate. The search through safe deposit vaults and banking institutions has begun, and conflicting interests are already discussing the values of individual shares.

Thus far all is guesswork, but before many days have passed a fair estimate may be obtained of the amount involved in the battle between the lawyers. Long, tedious litigation appears inevitable.

Alone in Family Feud.

Old Mr. Gilman stood alone in the feud with his family. He detested all blood to him by ties of blood, and he believed every hand was raised against him. While he lived they were united at least in their opposition to him. His death has caused their division into two factions, relatives by full blood and relatives by half blood.

If he was a resident of Connecticut, his kindred by half blood will certainly lose the greater portion of his estate, though they may have a fighting chance for some of his property here. If he was a resident of New York, under the law the relatives of half blood will share on equal terms.

There will surely be a pretty fight over the question. Mr. Gilman had lived on his estate at Black Rock, near Bridgeport, for about a quarter of a century, but some of his friends insist he had been most careful to retain his nominal residence in New York for business reasons.

The two factions were brought together by Surrogate Fitzgerald in his appointment of administrators, selecting one of each to gather the scattered funds, each being required to furnish a bond of $300,000, which may be increased if the personal estate they obtain exceeds that sum.

Mrs. Hall Calm and Confident.

Mrs. Blakeley Hall, who had charge of the Black Rock household for three years, remains calm and confident amid the clash of the conflicting clans. She has refused to make public the grounds for her claim, but she announces that in due time it will be apparent that she is to receive everything.

There is no will so far as is known, and the lawyers for the relatives say she will have no standing in court unless she can produce a formal testament in her favor. The positive tone she has assumed in proclaiming herself sole heir has led to many speculations.

She could not have been Mr. Gilman's legal wife. He was a widower, but she has had a husband ever since she originally met the old millionaire.

She was mistress of the mansion at Black Rock, and she had virtual control of the expenditures. The old man was very fond of her and went so far as to take legal advice about adopting her, though it is not believed he complied with the full legal requirements. Even if he did, say the relatives, she would not inherit without a will.

A Unit Against Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Hall has consulted competent counsel, and she seems satisfied that she will continue to reside at Black Rock. In the meantime the relatives contend that she remains there merely by sufferance.

They say they are not anxious to disturb her by compelling her to leave without having a reasonable time to seek other quarters, but that her stay will be limited to a few days, as she has no more legal right there than any other stranger.

Her Mother, Her Brother and Leland.

Langley are still in the mansion, but their tenure depends upon hers, and if she has to quit they cannot remain. Edward S. Percival is the representative of the Gilman family in possession.

All the relatives will combine to attack any title Mrs. Hall may assert. Otherwise the factions will remain apart.

It is a most interesting contest as it stands, and there may be further developments at any moment.

Tax on Gilman Estate.

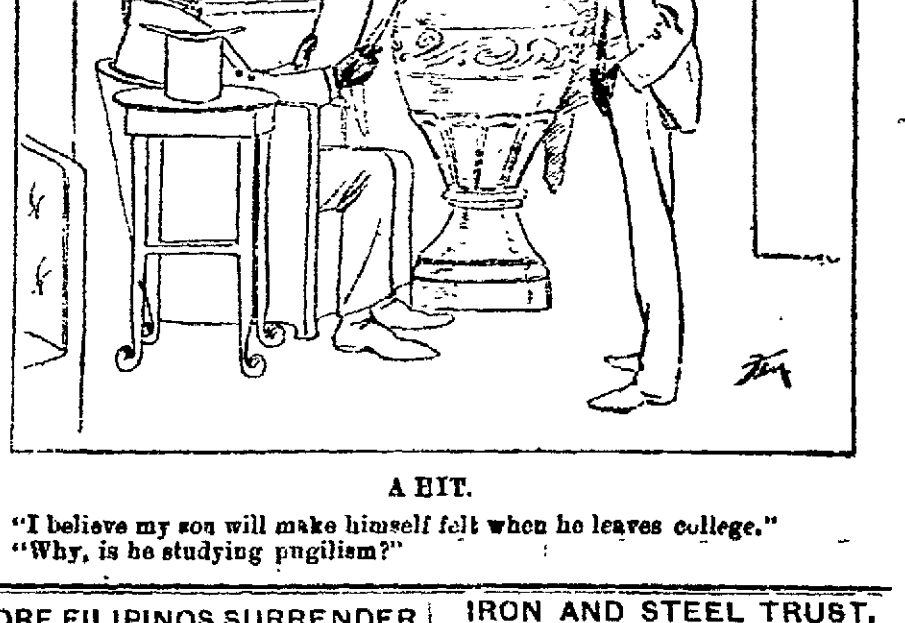

Bridgeport, Conn., March 12.—Judge Nobbs, under the seal of the probate court, has sent to the secretary of state for Connecticut an opinion in which the proposition was made that the estate of the late George F. Gilman comes under the "collateral" clause of the state succession tax. This means that, on the supposition that the deceased died intestate, the heirs of blood descent would have to pay to the state 1½ per cent of their inheritance, and heirs whose descent was not direct would have to pay 3 per cent. As none of the claimants of the Gilman estate are of closer relationship than nephews the 3 per cent basis would be exacted. Estimating the Gilman estate at $20,000,000, the commonly accepted figure, this tax, if levied, will not be the state of Connecticut some $300,000.

MORE FILIPINOS SURRENDER

General Mariano de Dios Now a Prisoner.

Manila, March 12.—Colonel Walter S. Schuyler of the Forty-sixth volunteer infantry has received the surrender of General Mariano de Dios, 4 officers and 57 armed and uniformed men at Nalo, province of Cavite.

Lieutenant Colonel Edward B. Pratt of the same regiment has captured 35 rifles at Abonao, province of Cavite. A detachment of the Thirty-ninth volunteer infantry has captured ten rifles at Marayan, province of Batangas.

In the case against Fernando Tustan, general agent of the Tabacalera company, who is charged with having aided the insurgents, papers have been discovered which places in an unfavorable light M. de Berard, former French consul in Manila, who has returned to Europe.

A detachment of the Forty-eighth volunteer infantry has defeated a body of insurgents near Santa Cruz, province of Laguna.

A contract has been awarded for raising the Spanish warships which Admiral Dewey sank in the battle of Cavite.

MAINE DIVER DEAD.

He Discovered the Cable That Led to the Mine.

New Orleans, March 12.—Edward Andrew Conrad, one of the best known divers in this country, has died here after a brief illness as a result of a recent inspection of the wreck of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor.

When the United States government advertised for bids for the removal of the wreck of the Maine from the harbor, Conrad was employed by one of the bidders, Mr. Moses Schwartz of this city, to inspect the hull of the vessel in order to report as to its condition. Conrad had been sick, but he undertook the examination and went to Havana. His examination was completed and resulted in the discovery of the cable extending from the shore which fired the submarine explosive that destroyed the vessel.

Conrad's exposure to the poisonous waters of Havana harbor brought on a relapse. He returned from Cuba in a very critical condition, with no hope of recovery.

Advance in Miners' Wages.

Pittsburgh, March 12.—Private advices to Pittsburghers announce the posting of notices by the Bowring-White Coal Mining company at Windber, Osceola Mills, Hazleton and other points in the central Pennsylvania mining field as follows: "The average advance of 20 per cent in wages given our employees April 1, 1900, will be continued until April 1, 1902." This notice affects about 10,000 men all told and is of the utmost importance in central Pennsylvania mining operations. The action of the company continues in effect the highest rate of wages ever paid in the central Pennsylvania field.

Texas Lynching Mob Out.

Austin, March 12.—Governor Sayres has been advised that a mob of over 4,000 people has gathered in Corsicana to lynch the negro John Henderson, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Younger. If they can lay hands on him, the jail was searched by the mob, but the prisoner was not found. Excitement is running so high that it is feared that the mob may attempt other acts of violence. If affairs do not cool down, the state militia and a force of state rangers will be sent to Corsicana to disperse the mob.

Why the Youngster Had to Go.

Nurse had come to bear her little charge away from the party, and the fluff-haired dandy was pleading for a respite.

"Not another second," said nurse firmly. "Come, get your coat on. There's a lamb."

But the "lamb" still demurred, and her obvious reluctance to go elicited the sympathy of the hostess, who (falsely) joined issue against the nurse.

"Do let her stay half an hour longer, nurse," she begged. "You were a child yourself once, remember. If I'd a mother in my life, I'd force of habit with him, mum. You see, he's timelier in a factory."

Nurse shook her head with stubborn resolution.

"Sorry, mum, but my young man is giving a party tonight, and if I don't there just on the minute he'll slam the door in my face. It's force of habit with him, mum. You see, he's timelier in a factory."

Then, despite whimpering protests, the "lamb" was ruthlessly torn away.—London Tit-Bits.

War Department Fully Indorses His Policy in China.

ANSWER TO LONDON PROTEST.

American Commander's Refusal to Allow Executions in Peking is in Accord With the American Army Regulations.

Washington, March 12.—For some time complaints from Peking about General Chaffee's lack of interest in the punishment of the Chinese have been appearing in the London papers and have given great gratification to the war department officials. General Chaffee has consistently refused to take part in punitive expeditions, even when invited to do so by Count von Waldersee, and has neglected to participate in the military executions ordered in Peking. These executions have been taking place ever since Peking was placed under military rule, and in the German quarter, according to one authority, they have risen to as high as 50 executions a day, a number seldom exceeded in Paris during the reign of terror. The American quarter alone has not been made the scene of such executions.

Yesterday the complaint was made in a London paper that not a single execution had taken place in the American quarter since the occupation of Peking and that in addition to that General Chaffee has overridden the decision of a Chinese judge and refused to allow the decapitation of "several notorious Boxer chiefs" condemned by this judge.

The war department officials say that the complaint against General Chaffee is well founded and that his policy is indorsed by the department. They also say that the complaint of the London papers misstates the case and that, in fact, there have been no "military executions" of Chinese by Americans, not only since the occupation of Peking, but at any time. It appears to be thought in London that this policy is one inaugurated through mistaken leniency on the part of Chaffee himself. To clear up the situation and to show that General Chaffee is not pursuing any policy except the regular American policy, which has the full indorsement and support of the administration, the following facts were made known yesterday:

American Military Regulations.

When the American government first sent troops to China under General Chaffee, an order was issued by Secretary Root calling their attention to the American military regulations and articles of war, and they were commanded to scrupulously observe them, particularly those in regard to the prohibition of looting, robbery and other crimes. General Chaffee carried out his instructions to the letter during the march to Peking. After his arrival there the situation became that of military occupation, and as such a state of things ensued which practically brought about martial law.

The American regulations are very specific in regard to what may and may not be done during military occupation. General Chaffee adopted as his guide in this respect general order No. 100, issued during the civil war under the authority of President Lincoln. This order, which has been the guide of the American army ever since, was promulgated on April 24, 1863, and it is remarkable not only for its comprehensive scope, but for the language in which it was couched. It directs the American troops whenever they are occupying conquered territory to observe the strictest rules of justice and mercy.

Japanese Diet Prorogued.

Tokyo, March 12.—The imperial diet, which had been prorogued until March 8 to give the house of peers an opportunity to assent to the new taxation bills, covering the expenses of the Japanese expeditionary corps in China, was again prorogued for five days. If in the meanwhile the cabinet of Marquis Ito does not overcome the opposition of the house of peers, two alternatives only will remain, the dismissal of the cabinet or a temporary suspension of the constitution. A third prorogation of the diet is not permissible under the constitution.

Mrs. Henry G. Hilton Dies in Paris.

New York, March 12.—News was received here last night of the death in Paris of Mrs. Agnes Sauxay Hilton, wife of Henry G. Hilton. Mrs. Hilton had for years lived apart from her husband, who was practically disinherited by his father, the late Judge Hilton. Out of the $3,000,000 left by the judge the son was to receive but $2,500 by the terms of the will. He brought suit to break the will, but subsequently withdrew the suit, and the matter was finally settled out of court.

First Battalion, Thirtieth Infantry.

Washington, March 12.—Orders have been issued designating the fourth provisional battalion of infantry now organizing at San Francisco as the first battalion of the Thirtieth infantry and directing that it be prepared for early service in the Philippines.

The Lawson Defender.

Boston, March 12.—Several more plates and deck chairs were placed in position on the new gun defender yesterday, and the work of riveting was carried along with much energy. The yacht will be ready for launching on May 1 and perhaps before.

Money For Bank's Creditors.

Washington, March 12.—The controller of the currency has declared a dividend of 20 per cent in favor of the creditors of the insolvent American National bank of Baltimore.

Made Her Beautiful

Every Lady in the Land Can Now Have a Beautiful Skin.

A TRIAL BOX FREE.

Every lady who sends her name and address will receive by mail free a trial package of a celebrated beauty's remedies for beautifying the complexion. It is not a face powder, cream, cosmetic or bleach, contains no oil, grease, paste or chemicals and is absolutely the only successful beauty maker known.

Fannie B. Ralston, 628 Lexington Ave., New-York, N. Y., sister of the famous beauty, Beauty Ralston, who also used these beautifiers, says: "When I began using Mme. Ralston's complexion beautifiers I did not think it possible to clear my skin, my face was in a horrible condition literally covered with red spots, pimples, blackheads, moth patches and freckles. And whenever the weather changed, my face was covered with a thick, yellow, scaly crust, which caused death, and when I sent for a trial of Mme.

Ralston's beautifiers just as I had done before time and again with other advertised remedies.
I did not expect any results, imagine my surprise when the next day all redness and soreness were gone. At the end of a week my skin began to clear, the freckles and moth patches disappeared and the eczema and salt rheum were completely cured. I improved so wonderfully that my friends did not recognize me, so quickly had the change taken place. My skin is now perfectly smooth, and there is not a blemish or wrinkle anywhere.

I hope all ladies will at least try these marvelous beautifiers.

Do not delay but write immediately. The treatment is harmless, a natural beauty maker and will permanently remove all tan, freckles, moth patches, pimples, blackheads, flesh worms, sunburn, chaps, roughness and any and all skin imperfections no matter what they may be.

INDIANS AND THE FUTURE.

They Believe That After Death the Spirit Becomes an Animal.

Charles Gibson, the Indian poet and writer, described the Indian's idea of the future as follows:

"The Indian knows nothing of a Christ Child having been born on Dec. 25 or any other month to save the so called sinners.
He knows no sin. He says that he came here without his own consent, and if he does any sinning in the body he sees no reason why his soul should suffer for the sin of the body, and if his soul is sent to hell for his sins, all right, let it go to hell and suffer, as he will know nothing about the matter nor the suffering of the soul. He says there is no fear of hell in his make up, as he is nothing but an Indian until death removes him, and then he is fit for nothing but worm food.

"As to the happy hunting ground, he knows nothing of it. This happy hunting ground has been got up by the white face. The Indian says he doesn't go to hell or heaven just as soon as he dies.
He claims that the life that was in his carcass enters on another life by being a bird, cat, dog, wolf or most any animal that has life. They are very careful about abusing little animals as cruelly as is pictured by the white man. The old buck always cautions the little bucks about being cruel to any animal or bird that is not to be eaten.

"The Indian believes there are certain animals and birds that are not for food.
The little ones of the Indians are always careful of hurting a cat, dog or anything else wantonly, as they are told that after their death they are liable to be a dog, cat, bird or something of the kind. A full blood Indian never kills or cripples anything he doesn't eat. The Indian on his native heath is not as savage as he is pictured. They were a little savage on the white man in early days; but, like other men, when the conqueror's foot is upon his neck he has surrendered.

"Once in a great while you will find an Indian who hates a white man because the Indian has been mistreated by the white man. On his native heath he has no religion. He says that he was not placed upon earth by any one; that he came out of the bowels of the earth, out of what he terms the navel of the earth."—Dallas News.

GOODBY.
Falling leaf and fading tree,
Lines of white in a sudden sea,
Shadows rising on you and me,
Shadows rising on you and me,
The swallows are marching there ready to fly,
Waiting out on a windy sky.
Goodby, summer, goodby, goodby!
Goodby, summer, goodby, goodby!

Hush! A voice from the faraway,
"Hush and hush!" it seems to say.
"All the tomorrows shall be as today;
"All the tomorrows shall be as today."
The wind is raised, the leaves are dry,
The link must break, and the lamps must die.
Goodby to hope! Goodby, goodby!

What are we waiting for? Oh, my heart!
Kiss me straight in the brow and wait!
Again! Again! My heart! My heart!
What are we waiting for, you and I?
A pleading face, a pleading eye,
Goodby forever, goodby forever,
Goodby, goodby, goodby!

A MASTER OF THIEVERY.

Stole a Man's Stocking Off His Foot
Without Disturbing His Boot.

"Talking about slick thieves," said the captain of the stockyards police station,
"the unworried king lives out in my district. He had as much brain matter as he has ingenuity and as much daring
for big crimes as he has for small ones.
A Sherlock Holmes couldn't get within a mile's walk of him in a thousand years." You smile.

"Ask the boys who keep a watchful eye over the unsophisticated stock raisers who the man is they fear the most.
They will tell you it is Moses Klinski.
He is afraid of turning a big trick, but when it comes to getting a watch chain, an overcoat, some trunk or the spare
coins in a stockman's pocket Moses beats any light fingered artist in the country."

"During the live stock show Moses stole a stocking off the foot of a Canadian who had a pen of Cotswolds on exhibition, stole it when the fellow had his big cowhide boots on and never disturbed the boot of the foot that the stocking was on, and the fellow was wide awake when it was done. One of my men caught Moses while he was getting away with the goods.

"There were half a dozen people around within a few feet of the sheep herder and Moses when the theft was committed. This is no fairy tale.

"It was one of the big days of the show," continued the captain. "The Canadian was busy talking to some western people about his breed of sheep. He was sitting on a bale of hay. Moses was shambling through the sheep section.
How he escaped my men and got inside is something that he alone could tell.
He edged up to the group around the Canadian. One of my plain clothes men caught sight of him, and he noticed that Moses was busy with his hands.

"He could not see what the fellow was doing and waited. In a few moments Moses dropped something into his overcoat pocket. The plain clothes man took hold of him and, reaching into the overcoat pocket, drew out a ball of red yarn.
He walked Moses back to the group and holding out the ball of yarn, asked if any of the men had been 'tong'ed."

"The next morning the Canadian came over to the police station. Moses had been run in on general principles, and I asked the caller what had happened to him. He held up a red sock. "Moses stole the other," he said to me. "See here," and he put his cowhide boot on a chair in my office and pointed to a little hole in the toe. "Yesterday afternoon that fellow stole my sock through this hole. He unravelled it and wound it into a ball. One of your men caught him, but I did not know the yarn belonged to me until last night when I pulled off my boot and found the sock was gone."

"Moses admitted the theft. He said he saw a bit of the red sock through the hole in the toe of the boot, and he noticed it was a good quality of yarn, and, taking the blade of his knife, he started the raveling, knowing that the man was too busy talking to pay any attention to the loss of a sock."—Chicago Chronicle.

The Shoplifters' Harvest.

One of the judges of the court of special sessions in talking to a friend regarding ineffectual efforts of store owners and courts to check shoplifting said:
"No matter how severe we make the punishment it seems impossible to stop these so called kleptomaniacs. Notwithstanding the large number of convictions, shoplifting is on the increase. The owners of one of the largest department stores in the city make a charge in their books each year of $50,000 to $75,000 by shoplifters. That is a big item, but this firm does not make many mistakes in its books. This estimate has been reached after close observation and careful calculations and may be regarded as pretty nearly correct. This firm, too, has abolished its private detective service. It has decided that $50,000 worth of goods will be stolen from its counters annually, detectives or no detectives. It figures that with the detectives it is apt to have other big losses. A detective anxious to make a showing will often arrest a woman when the charge cannot be proved in court. Then there is an action for heavy damages, which the plaintiff is sure to win."—New York Sun.

Why the Door Was Locked.

"Nora, I can't get into the parlor."
"Sure, it's meself knows that, and you won't with the key in me pocket."
"Open the door immediately."
"Will you go in if I do?"
"Certainly I will."
"Then you don't get the key."
"Open the door immediately. What do you mean?"
"Sure, it's by yer orders."
"My orders?"
"Yes, Yez said yesterday, 'Don't let me come down stairs in the morning and see any dust on the parlor furniture.' So I just puts the key in me pocket and says
I, 'Then she won't.'"—Buffalo Enquirer.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.
Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.
We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.
Restaurants may be found in the large cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food crank is in his glory,
in arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for the human stomach, and almost makes us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four or five years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.
Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm bed was extended to any kind from bed to a scorn.
A healthy appetite, and common sense are excellent guides, to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.
As compared with grains and vegetables meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.
Dr. J. L. Remmonson on this subject says: "Very few persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and a diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.
That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles,
pepsin, diastase, fruit acids, and salts,
which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for indigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.
Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.
All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia
Tablets at 50c. for full treatment.

SUSPECTED SOMETHING.

She Thought She Saw a Light After Reading Hubby's Letter.

The postman had brought a letter addressed in a singularly cramped hand to
"George Ferguson, Esq."
"Wonder," mused Mrs. Ferguson, closely inspecting the penmanship, "who that can be from."

If she had suspected that the incident would find its way into print, she would have said "whom?" of course, but the other way was easier to say, and, besides,
the language is changing.
"I never object to George's opening my letters," she continued, "and I think I'll open this. It may be family business anyhow, or it may be something that ought to be attended to right away."

The envelope was loosely sealed. It yielded readily to the careful insinuation of a darning needle under the flap, and in another moment she had opened it and was perusing the contents.
"My dear Ferguson," the letter began,
"if you will meet me at my office tomorrow morning we will confer about that matter we were discussing yesterday and will come to some conclusion.
In the meantime I may tell you in confidence that Ruggles will not come into the scheme at all. We shall have to carry it through ourselves. I may as well caution you in addition that whatever you write to me about it should be addressed to me at my office instead of my house,
as my wife, though an excellent woman in every other way, has a habit of opening my letters, and I don't want her to know anything about it till we have ad-our plans perfected. Your wife, you tell me, never opens any letters addressed to
you. Such a woman is indeed a jewel, and I do not wonder you are proud of her."

"Hm," mused Mrs. Ferguson in much perplexity. "How can I look George in the face after such a—such a—
I do believe it's a deuce of a letter after all."

Then, with a firmly compressed lip, she carefully sealed it up again and sat down to think about it.—Chicago Tribune.

ager, "it will cost something extra to tric light sign."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the proprietor of the theatre. "We ain't spending no more'n we have to. We've arranged to shorten it to read, '2 Cents of Verona.'"—Philadelphia Press.

DID THEIR FULL DUTY.

The Herald's advice to the republicans of Portsmouth to vote the straight ticket was heeded to the letter, as the result shows. The vote given the entire republican ticket is one that the party may well feel proud of. Mayor Edward E. McIntire was given a vote that shows that his popularity has increased in office. The incoming city council should get down to business at once and the city officials should be elected without any friction.

NIGHT WAS HER TERROR.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Globe Grocery Co.

THE POLAR BEAR.

He is a Rank Coward When Brought Face to Face With Men.

The character of the polar bear is a curious mixture of cowardice and daring, for it will fly at the sight of man, but will often come close up to the hats and sometimes even try to enter them.

When met with in the water, bears are killed with harpoons. On receiving the first wound the animal utters loud roars, seizes the weapon with its teeth, pulls it out of the injured part and hurls it far away. Sometimes, but by no means invariably, it will turn upon its assailant. Quickly it receives another spear, or bird arrow, from a second kayak man, against whom it turns after treading his weapon in the same manner and sometimes breaking it, and in this way the struggle is continued until the bear is overcome. The most important precautionary rule which the hunters have to observe is, when during the fight the animal has dived, to keep a sharp lookout down into the water in order that it may not come up unawares right under a kayak. Its white gleam can always be seen when it approaches the surface, and there is time to get away if it is coming too near. When a bear is encountered in the water or on land, it is scattered, its capture is considered a feat, and, for although an excellent swimmer, it cannot get away from a kayak. In the northern colonies, where they are seldom seen, the Greenlanders appear to be afraid of them, but such is far from being the case in the Juknaah district, where, in the water, at any rate, they are considered as much less dangerous than the walrus or the hooded seal.

The food of bears consists mainly of seals, which, however, they cannot seize in the water, but only when lying on shore or on ice, but as the seal, when in such positions, is extremely watchful and wary, the stalk is often fruitless, and the bear is obliged more frequently than suits it to depend upon an empty stomach. Caribou they take at any time. In summer they rob birds' nests of eggs and young ones, and appear to be partial also to berries. Probably, too, they live upon sea fowl, seizing them from below while resting on the water. According to Blodin, their ordinary food is fish, and they even capture salmon in the sea. This, however, I have never heard confirmed by the Greenlanders, who all consider that the bear's powers of swimming would not be equal to it. According to the same authority, neither reindeer, foxes nor birds are safe from the polar bear, but this, I think, is a mistake. Nature has intended that it should seek its prey in the water and on the ice rather than on the land.

When really hungry, there are few things which a bear will reject, down to old skin garments and tattered ropes' ends, which may sometimes be found in its stomach. It is under such circumstances that it ventures close to the hut and devours whatever it can find, sometimes even attempting to enter.

In the winter of 1896-7 a bear was shot at Godhavn, with the whole of the fore part of the body in an oil cask, which it was licking. In the Julianahavn district it is not unusual for these animals to visit the Greenlanders' houses, where they keep their dried seal's flesh, etc., tear the stones away from the entrance and clear the place completely out.

The Herald's Prize Contest

To the Two Most Popular Boys or Girls of Kittery, Maine.

When filled out send to VOTING DEPARTMENT, PORTSMOUTH HERALD.

CONTINUALLY SHIFTING.

Hundreds of Votes from Kittery Today Make Changes in the List.

There are continuous changes in the list of Kittery contestants for the gold watch and chain and bicycle that the Herald is to give away next month. Several hundred votes have been received today and the list is different than that of yesterday.

Harold Leyden is at the head of the list again with a good lead, and Elroy Walker is in second place. There are additions to the figures of Miss Sadie Bickford, Miss Minnie Eldredge and Miss Beatrice Goodwin, today, also.

The list at noon today stood as follows:

Harold Leyden,	1231
Elroy A. Walker,	1101
Edgar Emery,	817
Miss Sadie Bickford,	677
Walter Donnell,	536
Miss Beatrice Goodwin,	500
N. Elroy Emery,	308
Minnie B. Eldredge	130
Willie P. Emery,	127
Ned Shapleigh,	94
Willard E. Locke,	68
Howard Bemick	25
Addie E. Brown	14
Miss Cora Miliken,	9
Miss Mattie Williams,	9
Herman Boulter,	8
Myron Spinney,	5
Arthur S. Lane,	5

Conditions.

All that is necessary to enter is for the boy or girl to fill out the ballot which will be found on page four of each issue and send them to the Voting Department of the Portsmouth Herald. There is no limit to the number of times that one can vote.

The Prizes.

To the boy or girl receiving the largest number of votes up to April 2d at 8 p. m., will receive a modern 1901 bicycle.

To the one receiving the second largest number a gold watch and chain to be selected from one of the jewelry stores in Portsmouth. The prizes will be first class in every particular.

Let every boy and girl in Kittery enter the friendly contest and induce their friends to support them. The votes will be counted by a friend of each one of the participants and the prize will be placed on exhibition in Kittery at an early date.

USING THE FRYING PAN.

One of the Secrets Not Understood by Every Cook.

A fair sized basin should be filled with good dripping for the cook's use when frying, but if the dripping be not available at the moment two pounds of beef suet make an excellent substitute.

When frying is required, put all the dripping from the "bath" into a large iron saucepan without a lid and let it melt. At first the fat will bubble and make a noise, but it is not fit to use until quite still and quiet, with a faint blue smoke rising from it. Put rissoles, cutlets, potato chips or whatever is to be fried into a wire frying basket and then plunge it into the fat, completely immersing the contents. This is the great secret of success. The basket has a handle by which it may be lifted up to see how long to fry.

A very short time suffices for the cooking of food of meat like croquettes. The suet should be taken out when golden brown, as they become a little darker afterward. Always put them on crumpled kitchen paper in front of the fire to drain and keep hot while the others are frying. Only a few can be cooked at once, as they must not touch one another in the basket.

If one is frying cutlets, it is better, after cooking for a few moments, to draw the saucepan to the side of the stove, thereby lowering the intense heat. Otherwise the cutlets might not cook thoroughly, though, but be overdone on the outside and underdone inside.

Orange, apple or any kind of fritters may be cooked as above. The moment the fat is finished with, place it, if possible, outside the house to cool, as thus the fumes go off, no smell remaining to pervade the house. Then take a strainer and strain the fat back into the "bath," where it remains. This fat can be used over and over again, and, with a little dripping added now and then, should last for a year. So there is no extravagance in using plenty of fat every time anything is fried.

Quantity of butter, lard and dripping may be used as above. The butter, when it is melted, is always ready for use in a short time and does not go rancid. If the dripping and lard are used for the frying of roasts or steaks, the fat is the better, as it may be used over and over again. Without this and a complete absence of salubrious and noise suet will not be obtained.—Rt. Louis Republic.

KITTERY.

Mr. W. S. Waterhouse is again confined to his house with sickness.

Mrs. H. A. Halliwell of Bar Mills is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chick.

The Ladies' Social circle meets this evening with Mrs. H. B. Shaw, Central street.

Regular meeting this evening of Whipple lodge of Good Templars at Wentworth hall.

A. L. Kenniston, an employee of the navy yard, has been called to his home in Franklin, Me., on account of sickness.

The annual reunion of the Kittery High School Alumni association will be held at Wentworth hall next Saturday evening.

The black ducks are beginning to show up at the mouth of the river and several local sportsmen have succeeded in getting good bags of game.

The next assembly of the L'Academy club will be held at Wentworth hall next Friday evening. These assemblies are very popular with the young people of the town and the best class of these folks attends.

The sad news of the death of young Ernest Perry of South Berwick by accidentally shooting himself was a shock to the friends of the family at Kittery Point, where the father of the young man formerly lived and where the young man has many relatives. The first wife of Alexander N. Perry, the father, was a Kittery Point woman, and the boy, who met such an untimely end, was born to his second wife. The funeral will be attended by Kittery Point relatives and it is expected that the body will be brought here for burial.

Constitution lodge, No. 87, Knights of Pythias, received an official visit last evening from Grand Chancellor Fred J. Whiting of Portland. The visit of the grand chancellor was for the purpose of selecting a staff to work the first rank at the grand tournament at City Hall, Portland, April 18th. The grand chancellor will visit the applicants and select two teams, which, in his opinion, do the best work. These teams will compete for prizes. The grand chancellor will make his selection later. He returned to Portland on the Pullman last evening.

Getting Even.

"The poor old N. Y. and Z. railroad," wrote the editor of The Hickory Ridge Missourian, "declines to exchange courtesies with us this year, and we have taken its ad. out of our columns. It's a much eaten old concern, anyway, and never took a trip over it without kissing our wife goodly twice and taking out an extra accident insurance policy before we started. Last year we did $467 worth of lying for the N. Y. and Z., and all we got in return was $29.40 worth of traveling. We can stand it if the damned old road can. When you feel as if you would like to be scissled and don't care particularly how you get the sensation and have plenty of money and no better way to get rid of it and would just as lief risk your life as not and haven't any other way of spending your time, go and take a ride of five or six miles on the N. Y. and Z., and may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"—Chicago Tribune.

Put Your Best Foot First.

People who habitually depreciate themselves, who keep their best stock on the top shelf and put their worst goods in the windows, may expect to be taken at their own valuation. One of the ingredients of success in this age of competition is an unwavering self confidence, and another is a habit of making the most of whatever talent or acquisition is one's own and therefore an element of advantage. This is very different from mere conceit, from vanity and blustering. For the carrying on of life agreeably, for intercourse with society and for daily happiness we should cultivate the accomplishment which puts the best foot first.—Collier's Weekly.

Willing to Oblige.

"Villain, do your worst!" hissed Marjorie. Maudslott bowed and lighted a cigar. "My doctor, in whom I have great confidence, advises me that smoking is the only worst thing I can do," he explained, observing the look of perplexity which had now come into the young girl's glorious eyes.—Detroit Journal.

than anything else outside of the club affairs, purely, would.

Another organization has entered a strong candidate today, the Union Veterans' Union, which has presented the name of the colonel of Gen. Gilman Marston command. The candidate is Col. John P. Tibbetts. He is placed very near the leader for a starter.

With the votes sent to the Herald for Col. Tibbetts, came a warm letter that indicated enthusiasm.

The Herald will run half tone pictures of the candidates from time to time and make the contest as pleasant as possible for everyone.

The way the list looks today is as follows:

Harold N. Hett, Portsmouth Bicycle club,	210
Col. John P. Tibbetts, Gen. Gilman Marston command, U. V. U.,	190
John F. Leary, A. O. H.,	182
William S. Fernald, Chemical Engine Co. No. 5,	118
Charles W. Hanscom, E. G. E.	70
Charles H. Kehoe, M. H. Goodrich Co.,	56
Charles D. Yarell, Sagamore S. F. E. Co.,	31
John Ham, W. J. Sampson, H. & L. Co.,	21
Dennis J. Lynch, Kearsarge Engine Co.,	17

ONE OF THE OLD VETS

The conditions of the contest are as follows, a most liberal offer:

The Portsmouth Herald agrees to send three residents of Portsmouth, who are either members of the Portsmouth fire department, a social club or of some secret society, to the Pan-American exposition, pay all their expenses from the time they leave, until they return, including a week in Buffalo, with board and lodging and admission to the exposition daily.

This offer beats anything ever announced by any newspaper in New England, and is so far above the expense and interest of a trip to the national inauguration that it cannot be mentioned in the same class.

The contest will not be restricted to gentlemen but will be open to any lady who is a member of the various secret societies or auxiliary societies in Portsmouth.

The trip will include stop over privileges en route and returning and first class accommodations will be provided. In order that every detail of the grand tour may be properly looked after, the publishers will either send an agent in advance or with the party to make arrangements.

Everybody knows that the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo is to be grander and greater in every way than the World's fair and the visit will be the event of a lifetime.

The contest opened on Monday, March 4, when the first ballot appeared and which will appear daily Faith, Hope and Charity.

A London weekly has given 2 guineas for a definition of faith, hope and charity. It is as follows: Faith—blind trust in a first page. Hope—what investors are fed upon. Charity—what some of them are likely to be brought to.

That is certainly not bad, but this one is perhaps even better: Faith—the gift that saves mankind. Hope—the gift that checks mankind. Charity—the gift that makes man kind.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

What the Next Diplomatic Step Will Probably Be.

Washington, March 12.—The rejection of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty by the British government, without terms and without any counter proposition, leaves a clear cut issue between the two governments. If there is to be any treaty about the Nicaragua canal, negotiations must be begun absolutely from the beginning. When the new negotiations are begun, Great Britain will be able to submit her counter proposition, if she has any. The situation will then be that the United States desires to renew negotiations and that the British government, according to the American request, makes known what it will accept as the price of reopening the subject. The matter is completely closed by the British reply. If it is reopened, it must be at the request of the United States. Great Britain will then point to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, show that the United States cannot construct an interoceanic canal under it without her consent and name her price.

There are only three ways out for the United States. One is to claim that the treaty is void, the second that it is voidable, the third to accept the British position that the treaty is in full force and begin negotiations anew at that disadvantage. The first door is closed to the United States. The third would make negotiations practically impossible, for it is morally certain that the senate would not accept the terms which Great Britain would dictate if a full acceptance of her position were made. The belief is general that if negotiations are renewed it will be upon the basis of the second claim. This is the old claim made by Blaine and Frelinghuysen, that the treaty may be declared void. Upon this basis the United States would have a chance to maneuver for position, and there is a strong belief that the negotiations will be renewed upon this basis.

DEAD IN BOILER EXPLOSION.

Forty-two Injured, Several Fatally.

Laundry Wrecked.

Chicago, March 12.—Ten employees were killed outright in a boiler explosion in the Doremus laundry, 458 to 462 West Madison street, yesterday, and their bodies have been recovered from the ruins. Forty-two persons were injured, several fatally, and several are missing. It is believed that bodies are still buried in the wreckage of the building. The majority of the victims were girls.

The dead are: Frank Hannemann, Martha Jacob, Bessie Kusuba, Kate Voss, Catherine Kelly, George Piehl, Emma Sabruski and Minnie Olsen.

The west wall of the Waverly theater building, now occupied by the Volunteers of America, adjoining the ruined structure, was knocked in and the auditorium of that building filled with debris.

Inspector Shea has given orders to hold A. F. Doremus, the proprietor of the laundry, until the cause of the explosion has been cleared up.

Gamblers Leave New York.

New York, March 12.—In an interview given last night Lewis F. Nixon, chairman of the late Tammany committee of five, gave a resume of the work done by the committee. He said that of the 340 gambling places found to be in existence by the committee 80 per cent has been closed, and the 20 per cent now running is doing little business for fear of raids by the police, the district attorney's office and the agents of the various societies organized to fight vice. Mr. Nixon said that of the two hundred and seventy odd gamblers who were driven out of New York he has found that most of the number have migrated to Philadelphia.

Potomac Badly Swollen.

Hagerstown, Md., March 12.—The heavy rains have swollen the waters of the Potomac river at Williamsport until it is now a foot higher than it has been since the Johnstown flood. Its tributaries are also raging, and a number of bridges have been washed away in this vicinity. The dam at Buena Vista gave way yesterday afternoon, releasing an immense body of water, which swept down the valley to Waynesboro, Pa., carrying fences, barns and other outbuildings away with a rush. No lives were lost owing to timely warning given the inhabitants of the valley, but the damage to property is estimated at $5,000.

Shenango Does Much Damage.

Sharon, Pa., March 12.—The Shenango valley is being swept by a raging flood, the worst in eight years, and thousands of dollars' worth of property has been destroyed between Greenville and New Castle. The heavy rains and melting of snow during the past two days have put the Shenango river on the rampage. An immense ice gorge has formed at the Bessemer railroad bridge, backing the water up for miles and inundating part of Greenville. The Sharon steel works and Sharon steel hoop plant are under water, and considerable damage has been sustained. The river is still rising.

Sixteen Killed by Storm.

Little Rock, March 12.—Reports from over the state show that the storm of Saturday and Sunday was far greater than previous reports indicated. Thus far there are 16 deaths reported. At Greenway a dozen buildings were razed. Great damage was done at Osceola, Piggott and Paragould.

Fire in Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, March 12.—Fire has gutted a building at the corner of Atlantic and New York avenues, causing a loss of about $32,000. The principal losses are Buchanan & Sons, clothing, $12,000, and John L. Kelly, owner of the building, $15,000. Both losses are covered by insurance.

UNIVERSAL DISTRUST RULES IN THE SAFE DEPOSIT BUSINESS.

Even Patrons Have to Submit to Galling Restrictions—Comedy in the Making of Pedigree—Remarkable Memory of Employees.

Many millions of dollars in plate, jewelry, stocks, bonds, cash and other desirable things are locked in the vaults of the safe deposit companies doing business in New York city. These millions are guarded with scrupulous care. So much protection is thrown about them that their owners are obliged to submit to restrictions in handling their property which would be galling indeed if the reason was not obvious. There is a fortune for a daring thief behind the vaults' steel doors, and the sight of riches lying easy of access has turned many a well meaning but weak man into a rogue.

This is one reason why a visitor at the offices of these companies, be he patron or not, is regarded with embarrassing suspicion and why the man who desires to become a customer is forced to submit to an ordeal faintly suggestive of the Spanish inquisition. Mark Twain transformed the old adage about putting "all your eggs in one basket" into the smart epigram, "Put all your eggs in one basket and watch that basket." The safe deposit company has all its "eggs" in one basket, and the watchers of that basket are Argus-eyed.

Of the 25 companies doing business in this city 17 are independent organizations, and the remaining six are identified with parent banks. The capital of the independent companies is over $5,000,000, and the value of the riches in their keeping may be roughly estimated at from 40 to 50 times that amount. One representative downtown company has in its subterranean vaults 17,000 steel compartments, ranging in size from boxes 16 by 8 by 5 inches to safes in which a 10-year-old boy might stand upright.

The annual rental of these compartments varies from $5 in the one case to $800 in the other. The smallest boxes are large enough for a comfortable fortune. That can be tucked away in a big safe would tempt a Cressus. Usually these latter compartments are rented by business partners. Each compartment has a double combination, half of which is known to each partner. Both men therefore must be present when the safe is opened, and an attendant has to use his key before the heavy doors can be swung back.

The customer who wishes to get into the vaults, perhaps to enjoy the pleasing pastime of cutting off little green coupons with a sharp pair of scissors, does not find it a simple matter. There is an outer gate guarded by a watchful Cerberus, an inner gate at which is a second Cerberus, and finally a third gate, around which is clustered a small army of attendants. When the man with the money has passed these successive barriers, he gives the key to his box to an attendant, who is distinguished among his fellows because he possesses a truly remarkable memory. He knows the person to whom each one of the 17,000 boxes belongs. If there were 27,000 boxes, he would know their 27,000 owners. He wouldn't brag about it either. His memory is the most valuable asset in his business.

When his amnesiac wonder has received the key to any one of the boxes, he goes with the customer merrily to the right number, and, unlocking the box with the necessary aid of his own key, he carries the steel drawer to one of many little rooms equipped with scissors, paste, pen, ink and the like. Here the customer locks himself in. When he leaves, the process is reversed, and at length he arrives on the sidewalk with a considerable idea of the importance to the company which has the good fortune to safeguard his wealth.

A person who wants to rent a box is severely enticed. His pedegree to the third and fourth generations is examined. His age, his profession, his habits, even his hopes and aspirations, are put on record. A few days ago an old gentleman and his wife, who were either the possessors of suddenly acquired wealth or recent arrivals in the city from up the state, called at a Broadway safe deposit company for the purpose of renting a box. The box was to be entered in the wife's name, and her husband was asked if the wife had any peculiarities by which she could be identified. The old man hunched and hunched and rubbed his chin doubtfully.

"Well," he said at length, looking at his wife out of the corner of his eye, "well, I just can't tell Alice is a little quick temper."

"Why, what?" was the retort, "I haven't said a mean thing to you in going on 35 years."

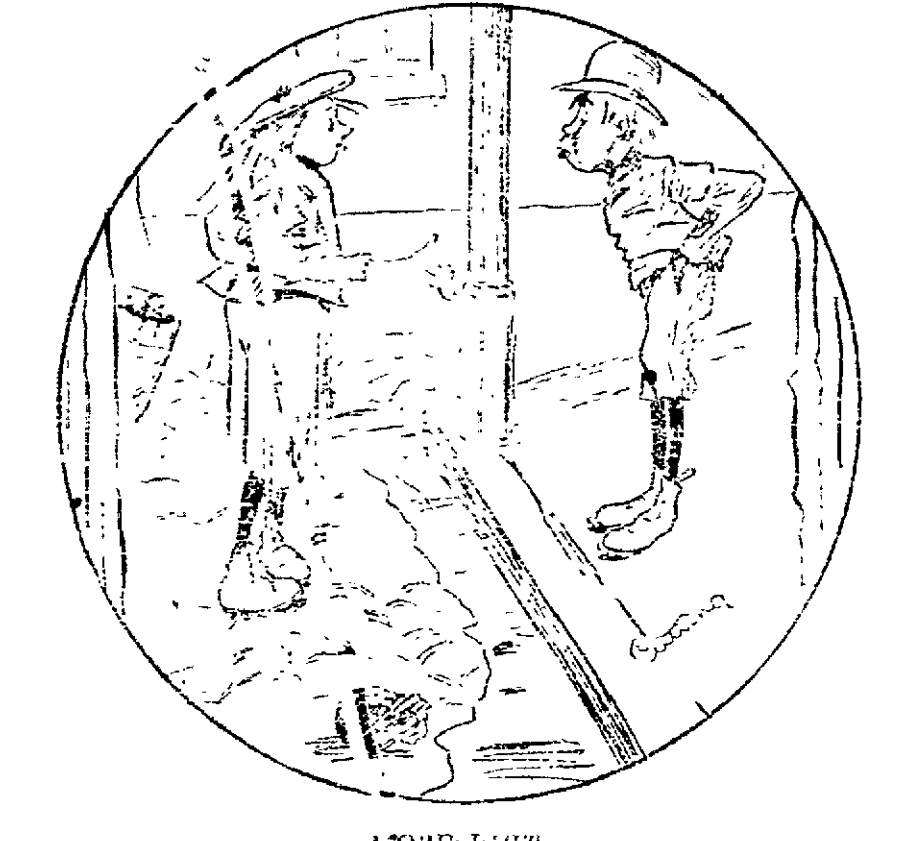

"Now, don't," said her husband, frowning for an opening, "don't you recollect the time?"

"No, I don't, and you don't either."

At this point the examiner thought it best to interpose. He said that the matter of identification would be waived.

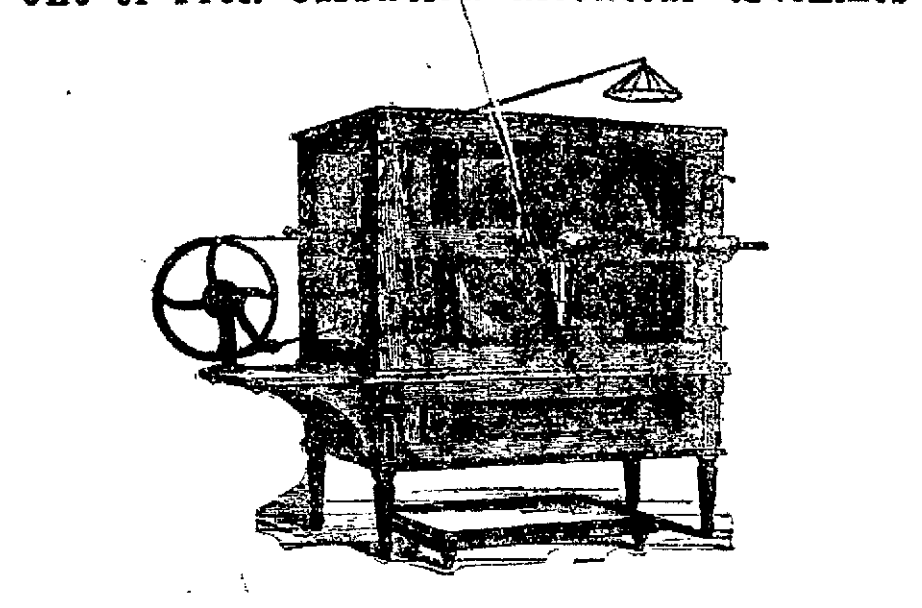

The identical nature of each applicant's record are communicated to the attendants, who are required to keep intelligent watch of the drift of patronage. A woman was expected to meet a friend in the vaults on a Saturday morning, asked an attendant if any one had called to see her.

"No," was the reply, "but your sister was here last Thursday afternoon."

One of Prof. Caldwell's Electrical Machines

USED BY HIM IN THE ERADICATION OF CHRONIC DISEASES AT NO. 4 ISLINGTON ST., PORTSMOUTH.

The mysterious power that is propelling our street cars, carrying our thoughts through the air and under the sea by telegraph and cable, and our spoken words here and there by telephone, has developed as a curative agent so rapidly within the last few years that it is taking the place of medicine and surgery, and doing better work in many kinds of diseases.

WHAT HIS PATIENTS SAY.

When I went to Prof. Caldwell for consultation I was more dead than alive and thoroughly discouraged. For I had suffered untold misery for the past four years. I had courted with many good physicians, but of no avail. No one could realize how miserable and depressed I felt, and how his words of kind regard and hopefulness raised me out of the depth. I felt better in mind and body, as one filled with a new life. My friends speak of it. Thanks to his wonderful treatment, I was nervous and weak, circulation very poor, feet and hands as cold as ice, and other troubles, but those symptoms have all passed away, one by one, under his gentle and effectual treatment. I will gladly explain full particulars to any lady sufferer, and would advise them to go to him at once and get the treatment that cures. For your own sake I urge it. MR. GEO. WILSON, Ang. 8, 1900. 4 Porter St., Biddeford, Me.

In a letter of Sept. 14, 1900, she says: "I am getting along fine. I have gained 14 pounds and I am getting stronger every day. One of your patients Mrs. Geo. Libby, spent the afternoon with me. She is gaining wonderfully. In a letter of March 9 she reaffirms her former statements.

Mr. Wilson is a well known and highly respected citizen of Biddeford. He is one of the adherents of that city.

If any one wishes to verify this wonderful cure, they can easily do so by writing to Mrs. Geo. Wilson, 4 Porter street, Biddeford, Me., enclosing stamped and addressed envelope.

HIS CURES ARE PERMANENT.

He uses the very best and latest electrical machines. With these and his wonderful magnetic appliances he achieves results that are a marvel to the public and the suffering patients themselves. There are a large class of sufferers in the world—not really sick, but miserable, restless, and always tired—who are suffering through the routine of tonics, stimulants, opiates and narcotics and fall into a state of supreme miseries.

These troubles are simply electro-nervousness, arising from a disturbance of the vital forces of the body, and can be effectually overcome by electricity. A few applications are sufficient; often a single process of electrical polarization will remove difficulties of years' standing. In fact, it is the only agent to be relied upon for the effectual cure of all cases of chronic derangement and functional disease. Can't Prof. Caldwell cure it? It can do you no harm and may save you years of suffering, perhaps your life. THEREFORE TAKE NO RISKS

CONSULTATION AND ONE TREATMENT FREE

To all who desire treatment, but no one will take offense if their case is declined. Under no circumstances will a case be undertaken which, in his opinion, cannot be cured.

INDIFFERENT LINGUISTS.

Recently Possessed by Americans For Spreading English.

"The average American is a poor linguist," said a customs official who speaks several modern languages correctly and sometimes acts as interpreter. "It doesn't come natural to us, as it does to the Latin races and to most Germans. They will pick up other tongues with an ease and facility that are perfectly amazing, but as a usual thing an American has to be absolutely driven to it before he will make the attempt."

"I had that fact forcibly impressed upon my mind during a visit I made to old Mexico only last spring. One would say, at first blush, that a knowledge of Spanish would be simply indispensable to anybody who proposed to reside in the City of Mexico, especially with the intention of going into business. Yet I found many number of Americans there who managed to get along without it and who declared frankly that it was too much trouble to acquire. These easy-going gentlemen simply insisted on using English, regardless of the fact that Castilian was the current language of the country. When they entered a store or restaurant they would say, 'Send along somebody who talks United States,' and then wait placidly for the interpreter to appear. Of course they were badly handicapped in the transaction of all their affairs, but they insisted laughingly that the annoyance was preferable to learning Spanish and that they would eventually succeed in making the Mexicans discard their native tongue. This systematic forcing of one's language upon people is characteristic of Americans," continued the customs house official, "and is no doubt responsible for the rapid spread of English as a business medium in all the great foreign capitals."

Hard Luck.

Towne—He's in hard luck. He had pretty good backing for an army commission, but his name quivered him. He had to sign his application, "A. Coward."

Boyne—Why did he have to sign it that way?

Towne—Because that's his name. Boyne—But wouldn't it have been better to write his first name in full?

Towne—Hardly. His first name's Adam.—Exchange.

DISEASES KEPT IN BOTTLES.

A Collection of Human Ills in the Army Medical Museum.

In the Army Medical museum in Washington there is a bottled stock of nearly all the diseases which are apt to be fatal to human life. There are especially on hand germs of consumption, pneumonia, typhoid fever, diphtheria, Asiatic cholera, blood poisoning, erysipelas and carbuncles.

The museum keeps these diseases bottled in tubes constantly ready for immediate use. The curator in charge of the laboratory, mentioned that he would give them all to any one in a few moments. He added that he would be able to do this at no serious loss or expense, inasmuch as there was enough consumption, for instance, in the consumption bottle to communicate the disease to many thousands of people, and it was the same with all the other diseases on hand.

In administering pneumonia to a patient, he said, he would select by preference the method of putting a solution of the germs in water in a spraying vessel and have the victim breathe the spray. The subject operated upon would almost immediately contract the affection with absolute certainty every time. He explained that pneumonia is contracted not from a cold or inflammation of the lungs, as people ordinarily suppose, but from the breathing in of pneumonia germs, whose increase and development are aided by an unhealthy condition, such as a cold may give rise to. The mouths of altogether healthy people very commonly have lots of pneumonia bacteria in them.

As for carbuncle, the curator said that he could produce it any time in the most healthy individual by a simple inoculation with a solution of the germs. Once so inoculated you would have about an even chance with death. Spraying the throat with a solution of the proper germs is the method also for conveying diphtheria.

There is no great difficulty in contracting Asiatic cholera if you want to. Take a few of the germs from the appropriate bottles at the museum and drink them in water or beer tea. If your stomach is in a particularly healthy condition, you may not take the disease, but otherwise you are pretty certain to have it. It is said that an assistant in the laboratory of the famous Dr. Koch once swallowed by accident a lot of germs of Asiatic cholera, with which experiments were being made, and developed what Dr. Koch believed a typical case. The assistant recovered by a narrow chance.

The diseases which the government keeps thus bottled in convenient form are all obtained—the germs, that is to say—from actual diseased tissues of patients afflicted with the complaints. To propagate the germs in any quantity from these tissues is easy enough. Vegetable gelatin, from a Japanese plant called agar-agar, is boiled and mixed with beef tea, so as to form a soft, transparent solid. A small quantity of the germs is put into a tube tightly corked with cotton. The tube is then placed in an oven and heated until all the germs in it, of whatever sort, are killed. Next, the tube is briefly uncorked and a long steel wire that has been heated also to sterilize it is dipped in the germs of the disease which it is desired to cultivate and scraped across the surface of the gelatin. The tube is now resealed and permitted to stand for a few hours, at the end of which the bacteria of the disease, having found the gelatin as the basis for feeding upon, will have multiplied enormously, so as to cover the surface of the gelatin. CITY BRIEFS

The police had little to do on Tuesday.

The quietest election that the city has ever known.

Nine grand vaudeville acts at Music hall on Thursday evening.

Tickets for the White Hats are now on sale at Music hall box office.

Now comes the struggle for the city offices under the new city government.

National block is being wired by the Frank Jones electric lighting company.

There will be a complete change of programme every night of the vaudeville show.

Hoyt's Bunch of Keys is the first rollicking comedy to be offered for a number of weeks.

When We Were Twenty One is turning people away at all return dates in New England.

The latest fad is the Carrie Nation stick pin, samples having reached this city on Tuesday.

High class vaudeville at popular prices should crowd the theatre on Thursday evening.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press association takes place at Concord on Friday.

Don't think less of your system than you do of your house. Give it a thorough cleansing, too. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The regular meeting of Gen. [G]ilman Marston command, U. V. U., was held on Tuesday evening.

"I suffered for months from sore throat. Electric Oil cured me in twenty-four hours." M. S. Gist, Haverhill, Ky.

The next whist party of Ivy Temple will be held at Red Men's hall on Friday evening, March 22d.

No matter how long you have had the cough; if it hasn't already developed into consumption Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will cure it.

The cutting room of the shoe factory was idle on Tuesday, but the other departments were running as usual.

Builds up the system, puts pure, rich blood in the veins; makes men and women strong and healthy—Burdock Blood Bitters. At any drug store.

It is expected that there will be about fourteen tables in play at the Warner club's whist party on Friday evening.

Years of suffering relieved in a night, itching piles yield at once to the curative properties of Doan's Ointment. Never fails. At any drug store, 50 cents.

A very bad washout in the sidewalk on Woburn street should be repaired by the street department before someone breaks a limb.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather a large audience attended Prof. Caldwell's second demonstration Monday night. His practice is rapidly increasing, and the patients who throng his office are amazed at the wonderful curative effect of his treatment. We are glad to know he is having the success his knowledge and good work deserve.

A SOCIAL LEAD.

Invitation theatre parties have taken the place of all other social functions in the big cities and it is a regular thing to see a party of thirty or forty in evening dress at the various theatres throughout New England. The tickets are paid for by each and the parties are organized by one or two ladies. A lunch generally follows after the theatre.

AT THE NORTH CHURCH.

"The Holy City," a sacred cantata by Alfred R. Gaul, will be sung at the North church on Sunday evening, by a large chorus choir.

TWO YEARS AT MANCHESTER.

Roy Lolley, a Bright Little Boy, Acted Badly in School Tuesday.

Roy Lolley, as bright appearing and as good looking a little fellow as one often sees, was before Judge Adams in police court on the charge of being disobedient. He is fourteen years old and acted badly in school on Tuesday. He had a pistol and aimed it at the teacher, while being corrected.

Judge Adams imposed a fine and costs, but on the application of the city marshal, the fine was changed to a term of two years at the state industrial school.

The police say that young Lolley is not a bad boy at heart, and they believe that proper restraint at the industrial school will make a good man of him, for there is nothing vicious in his actions and he appears quick to learn and has an agreeable disposition.

HOYT'S A BUNCH OF KEYS.

Hoyt's A Bunch of Keys, with all the latest novel features, presented by an exceedingly strong company, of great merit and possessing an original fund of humor, which is unexcelled by any other company on the stage will be the attraction at Music Hall next Monday evening. It will be well for those who wish to enjoy an evening of laughter with the irresistible Bunch of Keys to take precious time by the forelock and interview the advance sale at the earliest moment to secure a good seat ahead of the other fellow who wants a better one. A Bunch of Keys is a magnet drawing large audiences, and this season, Standing Room Only is the regular thing in nearly every city or town in which it has appeared.

Orders were received by the department of construction and repair at the navy yard on Tuesday to make for the naval exhibit at the Pan American exposition, Buffalo, N. Y., one 18 foot boat with davits and gear for the same, one sky light, one steering wheel, five guard rails, stanchions and lines for same.

The models of vessels made at this yard and exhibited at the Paris exposition last year, were awarded, it is understood, a gold medal.

KING JOLLIY.

The opera King Jolliy is to be presented at Music hall on two evenings in April for the benefit of the Universalist society. It will be given under the direction of a gentleman from Batteboro, who owns the copyright production; he is to come to this city the latter part of this month to superintend the rehearsals. One hundred and twenty-five people will take part in this production, and it will be given by local talent entirely.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind and colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

GREENLAND'S ELECTION.

The republicans of Greenland elected all the town officers on Tuesday, with one exception, that of treasurer, the democrats electing John K. Hatch, a prominent young man who is greatly respected, to that position. There was no opposition to the other nominees.

RYE.

The republicans carried the town and elected the following officers: Town clerk, Blake H. Rand; treasurer, Fred D. Parsons; selectmen, John T. Marden, Charles M. Rand, Horace Sawyer; auditors, Thomas H. Perkins, Chester D. Drake; library trustee, George N. Perry.

Basket ball enthusiasts will be much disappointed on account of the announcement that the Dartmouth faculty has refused permission for the college five to play the Woods Brothers in Portsmouth.

ARRESTED FOR SHOPLIFTING

Charged With Stealing Laces

Valued at $104.23.

"Mrs. Nellie Gray" and "M.S. Annie Marshall" Held at Boston.

Arrest Made at Jordan, Marsh & Co's, By Two Inspectors.

(Special to the Herald)

Boston, Mass., March 13, 1901.—The Globe, this morning, prints the following:

Inspectors Abbott and Wolf arrested Mrs. Nellie Gray and Mrs. Annie Marshall at Portsmouth N. H. yesterday, at the store of Jordan, Marsh & Co. They are charged with stealing imported laces valued at $104.23.

The police here believe that the first person named in the above dispatch is a woman that was obliged to leave the city some years ago. The other is probably a companion, picked up in Boston, for no one of that name is known here.

CANVASSING THE VOTES.

City Government Meets this Afternoon to Look Over Tuesday's Work.

The board of mayor and members of the city council met in joint convention at the city building this afternoon, Mayor Edward E. McIntire being in the chair and the full board being present.

The principal object of the meeting was to look over the work performed at the polls on Tuesday. In other words the most important business was to canvass the votes cast at the city election that day.

A pretty good idea of how the board found the figures to stand may be gotten from the columns of the Herald this afternoon. It was found that the presiding officer of the meeting had been elected by about two to one and he appeared satisfied with the result.

After the reading of the records of the meeting of the previous evening, which were approved, the business of the meeting was proceeded with.

The meeting was of a formal character and it was the last regular executive session of the retiring board. After the vote of Tuesday had been declared the convention arose on motion of Alderman Garrett.

The board of James L. Parker as tax collector for the ensuing year was filed and accepted.

On motion of Alderman Phinney the board adjourned sine die.

NEWINGTON.

The town of Newington was carried by the democrats by 1 majority. The officers elected were: Selectmen, Fred Pickering, James Pickering, Herbert C. Hodgdon; town clerk, Joseph McDonough; road agents, M. M. Hoyt, Charles Frink and J. W. Whidden.

The choice of all other town officers, such as fence viewers, surveyors of lumber, police officers, etc., was left to the selectmen. It took about four hours to dispose of all the business, and everybody got home in time for an early supper.

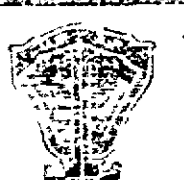

Miss Florence Drew is confined to her home with a rising in her head.

Mrs. Louis C. Brane was in Portsmouth yesterday calling on friends.

Norman H. Beane, superintendent of the Rockingham county farm, Brentwood, passed yesterday in Newington.

WASN'T HURT A BIT.

Although He Went Bumping Down A Whole Flight Of Stairs.

Albert Snow had a rather unique experience on Tuesday afternoon, while leaving Newell's photograph gallery on Congress street. In the hallway at the top of the stairs he tripped and went end over end down the whole flight, bringing up at the bottom with a thump. Mr. Newell heard the succession of bumps and thuds and came hastily out to find Snow lying motionless and apparently dead, in the lower entry way. He was himself again in a minute, however, and said that he hadn't been hurt a bit.

If Albert had been sober, he probably would have broken his neck; but he wasn't sober. He was so thoroughly embalmed that it took three police officers to transport him to the station, where he is now locked up.
